NEW & LIMITED ITEMS

Broccoli:

Broccoli Crowns from the desert growing regions are in stock and quality has been good, although growers are anticipating lower yields due to cold weather and slow growth. Organic Broccoli Crowns are back in stock from Coke Farm and Lakeside Organics. Sweet Baby Broccoli is in good supply. Romanesco is back in stock. Broccoli Rabe is in good supply. Organic Broccoli Di Ciccio is gapping from Coke Farm due to aphids.

Herbs:

Organic Cilantro is in stock from Coke Farm and Lakeside Organics. Conventional Cilantro supply has improved and quality is good. Italian Parsley and Curly Parsley are seeing good supplies and quality. Chervil and Chives supply is steady this week. Yellow Chives are not available due to cold temperatures in Baja. Organic and Conventional Basil is limited due to cold temperatures; quality has been hit and miss coming in from Mexico. California-grown Bay Leaves are good quality. Tarragon supply is very limited due to cold temperatures in Baja. Opal Basil is available by 2-day pre order; supply is tight due to poor quality. Mint supply is steady. Purslane is gapping until March.

Tomatoes:

Central Mexico production remains steady, but peak production is over and expected to slow down after the Valentine's week; prices will remain steady unless there's a major weather issue. Mexico-grown Toybox Cherry Tomato supply is steady but continues to have quality issues. Cherry Tomatoes on the Vine from Mexico are hit and miss due to quality (showing stem mold) and short shelf life. Yellow Cherry and Campari Tomatoes from Mexico are available but limited due to slow demand. Green Tomatoes from Mexico are available by pre-order. Mixed Heirloom Tomatoes from Mexico will be limited; quality is hit and miss.
