MARKET REPORT

SUPPLY & QUALITY UPDATES

LETTUCE ROMAINE AND LEAF

Salinas Valley has experienced unseasonable high temps in the last three weeks and now cooler than normal temps. These fluctuations and increased disease pressure as caused reduced yields.

BROCCOLI & CAULIFLOWER

These continue to be in bad shape with very limited supplies and very high pricing. Unseasonably early warm weather brought the fields forward resulting in supply gaps expecting to last through the end of this month.

ROUND, ROMA AND CHERRY TOMATOES

Not much change in the tomato category with round tomatoes being the most impacted with no immediate relief expected. Romas have firmed up as people move to that variety in lieu of rounds. Seeing some early production from Florida and Baja, but no volume that will make an impact.

STRAWBERRIES

Supplies are expected to remain short as CA has been with several rain storms limiting harvest and affecting quality. The Oxnard and Santa Maria regions are producing less as well because of recent rains and early season high heat.

WEATHER FORECAST

GROWING CONDITIONS ACROSS REGIONS

CALIFORNIA

California is expecting fair temperatures over the next week which will be a welcome sight as fields still recover from previous rain events and high heat.
