MARKET REPORT

SUPPLY & QUALITY UPDATES

ROMAINE HEARTS

Petite Romaine Hearts are extremely limited and are on allocations. Jumbo Hearts are affected as well, but there is more availability on those. Prices are very high and this is expected to last another 2-3 weeks.

ARTICHOKES

All sizes of Artichokes are very limited because of previous heat waves. Supplies are tight and prices are up.

YAMS AND SWEET POTATOES

Old crop Yam and Sweet Potatoes are winding up with prices coming up some. New crop is expected to start around mid-July. No change from the Livingston, CA growing area.

RED GRAPES

Coachella season will last another couple of weeks before moving to Bakersfield/Delano growing area. Mexican grown Red Grapes are also expected to start next week.

LETTUCE

Iceberg supplies are tightening up with increased disease pressure, including INSV. Greenleaf and Romaine are also affected. That being said, quality is generally good, there is just not enough acreage available to harvest.

WEATHER FORECAST

GROWING CONDITIONS ACROSS REGIONS

High temps expected in the Salinas Valley but then some cooler weather will come in off the Pacific Ocean. Coachella Valley is expecting peak, early season desert heat with temps in the low 100's.
