MARKET REPORT

SUPPLY & QUALITY UPDATES

AVOCADO

Large sized fruit is limited in CA and Mexico with prices being higher to slow demand. There is an abundance of smaller sized fruit in both regions with competitive pricing to steer demand in this direction.

ASPARAGUS

Supplies continue to be limited; there is just not enough volume coming out of Northern Baja. Product that is available is of good quality. Central Mexico, however, is finishing up with quality going downhill.

LEMONS

Starting to see some relief in the lemon market as imports from Chile and Argentina are arriving and increasing supplies. Larger sized fruit remains snug with smaller sizes readily available.

GRAPES

California grape season is in full swing. Recent heat in the Central Valley will help boost sugar levels and fruit maturity.

CALIFORNIA STONEFRUIT

Yellow/White Peaches and Nectarines out of the Fresno area are all winding down. They are expected to run until the end of August.

FARM FEATURE

THE GARDEN OF Santa Barbara County, CA

As a third-generation family farm, The Garden Of approaches agriculture with intention, cultivating familiar foods through practices rooted in care, awareness, and respect for the land. Their thoughtful methods result in produce that stands out for its exceptional flavor and natural vibrancy.

By fostering a balanced agroecosystem and preserving beneficial insect populations, they are able to eliminate the need for pesticides entirely. This harmonious approach supports both environmental health and the integrity of their crops, reflecting a philosophy where sustainability and quality go hand in hand.
